Funeral Arrangements
- Although there is a statutory obligation to comply with the written wishes of the decedent as well as for naming an agent for body disposition, a spouse is named in another statute with the primary right of disposition unless legally separated at the time of death. Until this conflict is corrected, there is a possibility that a cranky soon-to-be-ex may muck up your funeral plans.
- It is legal for a family or designated agent to handle everything without a funeral director. Or look for a home funeral guide: http://homefuneraldirectory.com
- If you will be using a funeral home, prices must be given over the telephone. You must be given a General Price List (GPL) if you visit in person and before discussing any services.
- You must be shown a Casket and Outer Burial Container Price List before selecting either.
- You must be given a Statement of Funeral Goods and Services Selected with the total cost before anything is delivered.
- Cash advance items may not be marked up with a commission for the mortuary.
- There are three nonprofit Funeral Consumers Alliance groups that do price surveys from time to time: www.funerals.org
- Do not sign any contract for more than you can afford to pay. Indigent assistance is through the county and usually quite limited. There is no other organization that assists with funeral costs.

Autopsy
- If the death was unexpected or the cause of death uncertain, the state will probably require an autopsy.
- If you have questions about the death, you may request and pay for a private autopsy.
- If a viewing is planned, there will likely be extra charges to repair the body for embalming.

Organ, Body, and Tissue Donation
- If death occurs in a hospital, you are likely to be asked about organ donation. Only about 1% of the deaths are eligible for major organ donation. The organ procurement organization (OPO) will pay for any extra body preparation needed if you plan a viewing. Decline any such charge you might find on the GPL.
- After-death donation of eyes, skin, and long bones may be considered. Ask the hospital social worker or the funeral director about this.
- Whole body donation to a medical school is one way to lower costs, but the donor’s family pays for transportation if any distance from the medical school in Tucson. After medical study, the school will pay for cremation and can return the cremated remains to the family if requested. You should have back-up funeral plans if your body cannot be accepted for any reason.
- There are also non-academic companies that accept whole bodies for research and education. Various body parts will likely be shipped around the country and possibly internationally. This state has no laws regulating these companies. Note that this is an entirely different category of body donation from the traditional cadaver donation to a medical school.

Embalming and Other Requirements
- Embalming or refrigeration is required after 24 hours.
- If the body is to be shipped out of state, airlines prefer to have the body embalmed, but a sealed container can usually make that optional.
- Many funeral homes have a policy that requires embalming for a public viewing. Embalming does not protect the public health. It merely delays decomposition.
- Caskets, Liners, and Vaults
- Neither is required by state law for burial. A rigid combustible container is required for cremation.
- A casket will not prevent natural decomposition.
- You may build your own or purchase from a casket retailer. Vault dealers rarely sell to the public. The purpose of a vault is to keep the ground from caving in. It facilitates maintenance for the cemetery. It has no preservative qualities regardless of how much you spend.
- Cremation
- A medical examiner’s permit is required.
- A pacemaker must be removed.
- Some crematories will let the family witness the cremation.
- A crematory may not contract directly with the public.
- The cremation process takes about two-and-a-half hours for an average adult. The crematory will remove any metal fragments and pulverize the cremated remains to small particles, similar to white or gray coarse sand, about 5-10 pounds.
- Burial
- There are no laws that specifically permit or prohibit burial on your own land. A good practice is 150 feet from a water supply and 25 feet from a power line with a deed certifying your land. You should draw a map of the land showing where the family cemetery will be and have it recorded with the deed before burial is planned as required for a disposition permit.
- If you purchase a lot in a commercial, town, or religious cemetery, you will also have the opening and closing costs in addition to the cost of the plot.
- Cemetery personnel may open and close a grave in an established cemetery.
- Some cemeteries have restrictions on the kind of monuments or plantings and adornment permitted at the grave site.
- A disinterment permit must be obtained from the state registrar if the body is leaving that cemetery.
- The Arizona Board of Funeral Directors and Embalmers has seven members. Three are consumer representatives, and four are funeral directors or embalmers. This board also regulates crematories. The Department of Banking shares regulation of preneed sales with the Funeral Board. Cemeteries are supposed to be regulated by the Real Estate Board.

Veterans and Their Dependents
- You will need a copy of the DD214 discharge papers for gaining benefits.
- The VA cemetery in Prescott has limited space for casketed interments. There is space in the one in Phoenix where interment and marker are free for the veteran, spouse, and certain dependants. There are also two state veterans cemeteries: in Sierra Vista and Tucson. There is a nominal fee of $300 for the non-veteran spouse or dependant.
- The U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) provides markers for veterans no matter where they are interred. Markers can be upright or flat, and they come in bronze, marble, and granite: (800) 697-6947.
- A free flag can be ordered from the U.S. Postal Service.

Prepaying for a Funeral

- If the contract guarantees the price, the interest is supposed to cover funeral inflation. But many investments do not appreciate as fast as the prices climb. You have a right to insist on no extra charges if it is clearly identified in the contract as "price guaranteed." Any substitutions should be of equal quality to that described in the contract.
- Prices of third-party items such as the crematory fee or obituary usually cannot be guaranteed.
- Setting aside assets for Medicaid eligibility is the one time it makes sense to prepay for a funeral. There is no limit on the amount in an irrevocable trust. Be sure to ask if you will be getting an annual report of your prepaid funds and let those who will be handling your affairs know that you have prepaid and where.
- No refunds are available for unused cemetery merchandise paid for preneed.
- There is no guarantee fund to protect against embezzlement.

Social Security Death Benefit

- There is a $255 death benefit for a surviving spouse. There is no similar benefit when that spouse dies.
- Dependent children are entitled to survivor benefits when a parent dies.

Complaints

- Valid complaints include dishonesty, misrepresentation, unprofessional conduct, negligence, breach of contract, violation of state or federal laws. For how to file a complaint, see: www.funerals.org/your-legal-rights/complaint
