Funeral Arrangements

- In South Dakota there is a statutory duty to comply with the written wishes of the deceased. You may wish to name an agent for body disposition if you want someone other than your next-of-kin to be in charge.
- It is legal for a family or designated agent to handle everything without a funeral director. To find a home funeral guide, check: http://homefuneraldirectory.com/
- If you will be using a funeral home, prices must be given over the telephone. You must be given a General Price List (GPL) if you visit in person and before discussing any services.
- You must be shown all the various casket and container options, but you do not have to select either.
- You must be given a Statement of Funeral Goods and Services Selected with the total cost before any services are provided.
- The Funeral Consumers Alliance in Rapid City has done a price survey: http://www.funeralah-sd.org/
- Do not sign any contract for more than you can afford to pay. If the deceased was indigent, there may be county funds to help with funeral expenses. There is no other organization that assists with costs.

Autopsy

- If the death was unexpected or the cause of death uncertain, the state will probably require an autopsy.
- If you have questions about the death, you may request and pay for a private autopsy.
- If a viewing is planned, there will likely be extra charges to repair the body for embalming.
- Be sure to pick the funeral home of your choice without pressure to use the coroner’s facility.

Organ, Body, and Tissue Donation

- If death occurs in the hospital, you are likely to be asked about organ donation. Only about 1% of the deaths are eligible for major organ donation. The organ procurement organization (OPO) will pay for any extra body preparation needed if you plan a viewing. Decline any such charge you might find on the GPL.
- After-death donation of eyes, skin, and long bones may be considered. Ask the hospital social worker or the funeral director about this.
- Whole body donation to a medical school is one way to lower costs although the family must pay for transportation and arterial embalming. After study, the school will cremate the body and return cremated remains to the family if requested. You should have back-up funeral plans if your body cannot be accepted for any reason.
- There are also non-academic companies that accept whole bodies for research and education. Various body parts will likely be shipped around the country and possibly internationally. The state has no laws regulating these companies.
- If you are planning home burial, a map must be recorded with the deed. A good practice is 150 feet from a water supply and 25 feet from a power line with two or three feet of earth on top.

Embalming and Other Requirements

- Regulations, not statutes, require embalming or refrigeration after 24 hours. This would not apply to home funeral folks only licensees.
- Airlines prefer that a body be embalmed, but an airight container may make that optional.
- Many funeral homes have a policy that requires embalming for a public viewing. Embalming does not protect the public health. It merely delays decomposition.

Caskets and Vaults

- Neither is required by state law for burial. A rigid combustible container is required for cremation. A casket will not prevent natural decomposition. You may build your own or purchase from a casket retailer. Vault dealers rarely sell to the public.
- The purpose of a vault is to keep the ground from caving in. It facilitates maintenance for the cemetery. It has no preservative qualities regardless of how much you spend.

Burial

- If you are planning home burial, a map must be recorded with the deed. A good practice is 150 feet from a water supply and 25 feet from a power line with two or three feet of earth on top.
- If you purchase a lot in a commercial, town, or religious cemetery, you will have the opening and closing costs in addition to the cost of the plot.
- Some cemeteries have restrictions on the kind of monuments or plantings and adornment allowed.
- The Health Department will issue a disinterment permit to a funeral director or upon court order.

Cremation

- There is a 24-hour wait prior to cremation unless death was from an infectious disease.
- A pacemaker must be removed.
- You may authorize your own cremation ahead of time.
- Some crematories will let the family witness the cremation.
- The cremation process takes about two-and-a-half hours for an average adult. The staff will remove any metal and pulverize the bone fragments to small particles, similar to white or gray coarse sand, about 5-10 pounds.
- The authorizing agent must indicate the planned disposition for the cremated remains. If not in a cemetery or public waterway, they may be buried or scattered on private land with the landowner’s permission. The written permission must include a “legal description of the property.” A deed? If scattering is planned, the crematory may not release the cremated remains for 30 days and until proof that the plan has been filed with the local registrar. It will be easier if you just say you’re taking them home. If scattering on public land or water, don’t ask, don’t tell. Park service people are concerned that some may want to create a little shrine at the site and would prefer not to know your plans. Be discreet. The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) says they must be scattered three miles out to sea. That’s because the federal agency has no jurisdiction over the first three miles; the bordering state does. Many other states have no restrictions on the disposition of cremated remains at all, and there are no “cremains police” or statutory penalties even in this state.
- If flying with cremated remains, be sure they are in a non-metal container to pass through the scanner.
- Cremated remains may be sent only by U.S. Postal Service. Use FedEx and UPS will not knowingly accept cremated remains.
- All cremations must occur in a licensed crematory. If dealing with the public, a funeral director must be involved.

Veterans and Their Dependents

- You will need a copy of the DD214 discharge papers for gaining benefits.
- The VA cemetery in Hot Springs and at Fort Meade are closed to new interments. The other one in Sturgis has space for both casketed and cremated remains. Interment and marker are free of charge for the veteran, spouse, and certain dependants.
- Be sure to pick the funeral home of your choice without pressure to use the coroner’s facility.
- The U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) provides markers for veterans no matter where they are interred. Markers can be upright or flat, and they come in bronze, marble, and granite: (800) 697-6947.
- A free flag can be ordered through the U.S. Postal Service.

The state Board of Funeral Service has seven members, two of whom are consumer representatives. The Secretary of Health also serves on the board for a total of eight. This board also regulates crematories. Some coroners are funeral directors with a potential conflict of interest.
